

LINED SEAHORSE

Hippocampus erectus

Tiny Survivors

Baby seahorses, when born, leave their father's brood pouch. They immediately have to find food and hide from predators. Using their flexible tails, seahorse brothers and sisters will sometimes hang onto each other, creating larger groups.

A baby lined seahorse is born smaller than a dime!

Actual Size

NORTH CAROLINA
AQUARIUM
Roanoke Island