Hunger Hurts Every Community
One of the most frustrating things about hunger is when perfectly good food is thrown away rather than given away to people in need. Mid-South Food Bank’s Retail Store Donation Program works together with the grocery industry to reduce this food waste. The Food Bank collects perishable, but still usable, edible food that stores can no longer sell and distributes it to food insecure and hungry people in the Mid-South.

Benefits to Your Store
There are simple economic advantages to donating to Mid-South Food Bank:
• Reduce your waste and disposal costs
• Enhance your community relations by helping one of the Mid-South’s most respected non-profit organizations.
• Reap rewards for your generosity through tax benefits.
• Liability issues are covered through state and federal provisions that protect donors.
• Mid-South Food Bank tracks food pounds and categories and provides a monthly report.
• It’s just the right thing to do!

With the Retail Store Donation Program, retail donors can avoid dump and compactor costs for food that is still usable and edible by donating to Mid-South Food Bank. These donations provide thousands of pounds of food to hungry children, families and seniors.
Retail Food Donation Made Easy

- Use food safety guidelines when donating; available from your company or from Mid-South Food Bank’s Retail Store Donation Coordinator.

- Set up a regular donation schedule to allow for pick-ups by a Partner Agency or Mid-South Food Bank.

- Designated an area for food donations.
